

USE OF WEBSITE

www.cidro.es (hereinafter referred to as CIDRO) hereby authorizes the display, downloading and printing of the materials contained in the following website www.cidro.es (hereinafter referred to as Website) including the website's graphic layout, only for the purposes of using the Website as an internal company resource or for personal use and not for purposes of profit in respect of the intellectual property rights governing the materials contained in the website (including photos, illustrations, graphics, animation, videos, texts, icons, drawings and writings, etc.) in defense of CIDRO or any other party holding such rights. The display of the Website and the downloading of any type of material or support implies the user's complete acceptance of the "Terms of Use" provided below. Whenever the user does not feel capable of accepting such terms, he or she is invited not to use this Website. The downloading of certain documents or the use of certain services may require the user's specific acceptance of other conditions. Any and all modification of the materials contained in the Website and their copy, reproduction, publication, distribution or use for commercial purposes or in any other Website or computer network is strictly prohibited. CIDRO and its authorized parties reserve all intellectual property rights not expressly provided in these "Terms of Use". Although CIDRO dedicates the maximum attention to the checking such materials, it cannot guarantee the accuracy or completeness of the contents of its Website. Such materials, including product catalogues and price-lists, may be modified in any moment without warning at the complete discretion of CIDRO, which although committing considerable resources to the purpose, also declines all liability for the updating of the contents of its Website. The information provided in the Website may regard products, programs and services that are not present in the nation of the user, who is obliged to consult the local CIDRO dealer or consociate by using the links provided in the Website in order to obtain the information required on the products, programs or services available for specific nations and users. The violation of any clause in these "Terms of Use" immediately invalidates the authorization for the use of the Website granted by CIDRO and all the material downloaded and/or printed by the user must be immediately destroyed.

DATABASE PROTECTION

The structure of the Website developed by CIDRO contains a complex of databases for the selection or arrangement of the materials that represents a creation covered by the intellectual property rights of CIDRO and/or the other companies who have granted rights to the latter.

COMMUNICATIONS BY USERS AND USER PRIVACY RIGHTS

The transmission of illegal, threatening, defamatory, obscene, pornographic material and any other material in violation of any applicable law to and storage in the Website or its databases is prohibited. The user's personal data will be processed by CIDRO as prescribed by Spanish Law. CIDRO also applies the further minimum measures designed for the protection of client personal data against alteration, destruction, unauthorized and/or non-conforming disclosure, access, and processing. The Website can be visited without providing any personal data at all. In some cases, CIDRO may request users to provide personal data that are usually required only to complete registration for a service or in the context of a given transaction. Whenever a user places an order, CIDRO requests the name, e-mail address, mailing and invoicing addresses, telephone and telefax numbers, and other data depending on the type of payment to be used. Whenever the user decides to provide indispensable information to CIDRO via Internet, such as for the purpose of an exchange of information, the filling of an order with payment, or the delivery of a product, for example, CIDRO will provide detailed explanations on how such information will be processed. Whenever the user denies authorization for the further use of such data, CIDRO agrees to respect such intention. CIDRO processes personal data also with the use of computerized or telematic processes suited for the memorization, management, and transmission of such data for the following purposes: the management of Website functions and/or the stipulation of contracts, the creation of reports on the transactions accomplished and the disclosure of the same to the parties involved (e.g. suppliers who offer products or services related to this Website), for purposes of information, and for the implementation of protection measures against electronic fraud regarding the transactions in progress between CIDRO, users and/or third parties. For such purposes, and also in order to allow CIDRO to fulfill its obligations prescribed by contract and law, CIDRO may transmit or disclose personal data to its own Information Technology managers or others working for its sub-contractors, who all agree on the basis of agreements signed with to process such information exclusively in respect of the strictest conditions of privacy. In particular, whenever such data are disclosed to third parties, CIDRO will adopt specific procedures in order to make sure that such third parties proceed in compliance with its own privacy protection policy and every applicable law in question.

Terms of use of the website

LOG FILES

Like other companies operating on line, CIDRO collects and analyses certain technical information coming from the computers of users every time that they visit a Website page. Such information includes the type of browser utilized, the nation of origin, the provider of origin, the address of the latest page visited, and other technical information. CIDRO either processes and analyses this information directly or designates third parties for such purpose in order to monitor the type of traffic, especially in order to guarantee the Website's technical security and conduct statistical analyses on the collective behavior and characteristics of the visitors, using such information anonymously in aggregate form to improve the Website's quality, content and functions without selling or disclosing such information to third parties. The list of parties to whom CIDRO communicates such information for these purposes can be requested from the CIDRO registered office.

LINKS

The creation of links to the Website depends on the respect of the following conditions. Although a link can be established to the Website following authorization by CIDRO case by case, the material contained inside cannot be copied for commercial purposes. Browser frameworks or panels around the content of the Website (framing) cannot be created. Linking, permitted by the granting of CIDRO authorization, does not imply either directly or indirectly the existence of any form of authorization or approval of the products and services provided by third parties by CIDRO. No relationship of any kind with CIDRO must be expressed or implied. No false information regarding CIDRO products or services must be presented. The use of the CIDRO logo and trademarks is prohibited without the express authorization of this latter. The Link must not contain or lead to any material that might be considered to be in bad taste, offensive or controversial, and must be suited to vision by users of all ages. Linking must be performed always and only to the Website's Home Page and to other Website pages only after first obtaining written CIDRO consent. The origin of the link must not be made through the use of the CIDRO name, logo or any other trademark unless expressly authorized by such latter in the appropriate CIDRO licensing contract.

LINKS TO OTHER WEBSITES

Links to websites of other companies featured in the CIDRO Website are provided only for the comfort of the user. Connection to such links automatically abandons the CIDRO Website. CIDRO has not checked and does not control these websites of other companies and is not responsible for the same or their content, and for such reason, CIDRO declines all liability for such websites and any information, software, function, product or material contained in the same together with any effect that might be created through the use of the same. Whenever a user decides to visit any of the websites of other companies featured in the CIDRO Website, it remains understood that the user does so at his or her own exclusive responsibility and risk.

WEBSITE SECURITY

Users are prohibited from violating or attempting to violate Website security functions through the following or other actions, such as by: (1) accessing data not destined to the user or by connecting to servers or accounts to which the user has not been granted access; (2) attempting to probe, examine or test the vulnerability of the system or a network or violating the security or authentication procedures, except when expressly authorized to do so by CIDRO; (3) attempting to interfere with the service offered to users, host computers or networks, such as by spreading viruses through the Website or intentionally overloading the system by transmitting massive quantities of data, etc. With the use of the Website and the acceptance of these Terms, the user agrees to refrain from using any device, software, instrument, agent or mechanism (including browsers, spiders, robots, avatars or artificial intelligence agents) other than the browsers and search engines available in the Website itself and the web browsers commonly used (e.g. Netscape Navigator, Microsoft Explorer, Opera) to visit or interact with the Website.

LIABILITY

The Website's content and functions offered by the latter are supplied as are and under no circumstances will CIDRO or any other company mentioned in the CIDRO Website or accessed through links provided in the latter be liable to anyone for any reason whatsoever for damages caused by the use or the impossibility to use the Website or any of its links and any of the material and information contained in the same - including implicit copyrights or guarantees of suitability for particular usage - or in regard to the interruption of commercial activity or damage to corporate image. The user also agrees that the processing and transmission of data in the context of the services provided may require the use of other networks and systems, and that for such reason CIDRO might be required to modify such services for compliance or adaptation to the technical specifications and connection standards of its own networks or their connection programs and equipment. In this sense, the user agrees to allow CIDRO to modify the general rules of use for such services in any moment whatsoever at its own inalienable discretion without giving rise to any grounds to claims for indemnification of any kind.

APPLICABLE LAW

The CIDRO Website and the respective services are directed to users residing in Spain territory. CIDRO declines all liability whenever the materials in its Website are used outside Spain territory. Accessing this Website from other nations is made at the exclusive risk and responsibility of the user, who assumes all liability derived by the application of the law in the nation of use (to which he or she agrees to comply). These "Terms of Use" are subject to the provisions of Spanish Law. CIDRO reserves the right to modify such Terms without warning in any moment at all. The use of the Website automatically implies the user's acceptance of the “Terms of Use” in force at the moment of use and requires the user to regularly consult both the on-line version of this document and the Website's operating instructions in order to learn the latest version to be applied by current users of the Website. Any and all modifications made to the personal data processing process will be rendered public in this document without requiring advance notice. Any and all disputes created by the application of these “Terms of Use” will be subjected to the sentence of the exclusively competent Court of Valladolid (Spain).

Terms of use of the website

Rights of the User: The user has the right to request from the registered office of the handler of personal data the confirmation of the existence and the origin of a record of his or her personal data, the method by and purpose for which such data has been processed, the updating, correction, and/or integration, cancellation, transfer or freezing of such data whenever illegal processing has been performed.

